

New Paltz Times, July 23, 2009

Hoping for a change of mind

I am very disappointed regarding the outcome of the [Rivendell Winery] situation. I have been coming to New Paltz for years and our favorite spots are the wineries. We should be grateful that we have the wineries so close to home and it is a place where people go to relax and get away from everyday problems. Taking away this privilege from us is sad. I am sad right now. I had family come over from Europe last winter and we very much enjoyed our trip to New Paltz; my cousin especially liked to see the wineries. If there are no wineries, I know there are other things to do. But you won't be seeing me there anymore because I can rock climb in Westchester County.

I hope to see this situation reversed.

Pallavi Ratanshi
Yonkers